

IN THE OIL FIELDS

Office: 6241

W. H. PECK

Residence: 2442

With the Oil Men

J. E. Sanders, with Wenta & McCay of Ponca City, is in Tulsa and says that the big gasoline plant recently completed by his firm is doing a remarkable business and making a record.

Some Surprise

P. J. Bradford of the Bradford Big and Red gas company was surprised at the number of oil men he met when he presented each one a check for 25 per cent of his yearly salary. He had asked them to call at his office on business, and the first information any of them had when the checks were passed around was genuine gratitude was on tap immediately. Not only that, but on the basis of last month's production, the 25 per cent dividend will be more than the oil men will receive.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

W. H. Harrett, president of the Imperial Refining company, was in Tulsa yesterday for the meeting of the refinery association and received a warm welcome from his numerous friends here. He is greatly pleased in Tulsa.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found a statement setting forth clearly the basic program which will be presented to Congress and the oil men of all that will be necessary.

Conrad Ross, a committee man in the oil fields, has been working hard up the great independent industry in the west.

That they will be well received and will easily gain recognition from the fuel administration goes without saying and so the fuel oil situation will likely be settled and that is before the coal miners are back in the mines. And when Christmas is here there will be nothing to worry about and everybody can enjoy the festivites.

At Barge

The Henry oil company are completing a rig and moving in tools to offset the deep sand well just completed by the Gates oil company, Producers and Refiners corporation which is taken over a quarter mile from the Robinson and Estes oil field in the northwest corner of the northeast corner of the northwest of the northwest of 21-15-12.

The well that caused all of the excitement is estimated at 500 or 600 barrels after it has been drilled in which will be tomorrow. There is a lot of oil around the well.

The same companies with the G. P. & G. just completed their new well on the Johnson farm in the southeast of 1-14-12, being the second location west from the southeast corner. The well is good for 300 barrels natural. A rig is up for No. 3 a location west.

The same people are spudding the No. 6 on the Thompson farm, the location being the middle of the west line of the northeast of the northwest of 6-14-12, Okmulgee county.

The same companies are drilling at 1-14-12 in their offset to the Morris and Smith well in 7-12-11, the location is the southwest corner of the south half of the southeast of 6-12-11.

The same people, together with the Kimbley Oil & Refining Co., have spudded in on their test in the southeast corner of the southwest of 21-11-12 Henryetta district.

Late Completions in the Osage.

The latest report of completions in the Osage is as follows:

Frank Clegg in the southwest of 16-26-11 is good for five barrels.

W. H. Foster and others No. 1 in the northwest of 20-26-11 is making 30 barrels.

Wah Shah She No. 21 in the northeast of 16-29-9 is good for 75 barrels.

Wah Shah She No. 24 in the southwest of 16-29-9 is good for 40 barrels.

Dallas Osage No. 19 in the southeast of 22-29-9 is making 150 barrels. Sand was found at 1,356 feet and has been shot.

Chautauqua county completions are as follows:

Lies and others No. 1 Manter and Metcalf in the northwest of 1-34-10 is making 10 barrels.

T. S. Griffin and Guy Berry No. 1 Denman in the northeast of 11-34-10 is a dry hole.

At Cushing.

The Henry oil company and Chienko oil company have a rig up and are moving in tools for a No. 1 test in the southwest corner of the northwest of the northwest of 20-15-5 which is just one-half mile northeast from the March oil company's well in 29 which is still making 470 barrels.

The Alabama-Bound Oil & Gas Co. is ready to spud for its No. 1 test in the southwest of the northwest of 28-18-5 and has made a location to drill on its 40 acres in 32-18-5. J. C. Green of Birmingham, Ala., president of the above oil company, is in Tulsa having just returned from Dallas. He

OIL AND GAS

Leases, Supplies, Production, Etc.

(New) 6 5-8 No. 10, immediate

Del. Subject Prior Sale 414 Robison 0-9114.

I own scattered leases in Okfuskeo Seminole and Hughes counties. For information write P. O. Box 284, Okemah, Okla.—Advt.

We are in the market for close in leases, drilling propositions and production in Oklahoma oil fields. Ladd and Hamm, Wheat Bldg., Fort Worth, Texas.—Advt.

For information about the new shallow sand oil fields in western Kansas and 500 acreage, 100 rental in territory geologically approved write Tennakia Oil Co., Dickson Tenn.—Advt.

Louisiana Oil Leases Profit Makers

Write Today for Free Booklet Entitled

"The Lease Is the Thing"

It tells you how to select leases, when to buy and when to sell, gives examples of the wonderful returns that have been made throughout the various oil districts from leases, the advantages of a lease from a speculative standpoint, and all about our excellent facilities for caring for this class of business. Also ask for our special offering of

20 ACRES FOR $100

THE NEW YORK BROKERAGE CO.

510 Market St., Shreveport

T. W. 12-9-10-11

BELTING • PACKING • HOSE • VALVES
GOOD YEAR

THE GOODYEAR TIRE &amp; RUBBER COMPANY

Offices Throughout the World

GOODYEAR

With the Oil Men

short stay at the company's Tulsa office.

W. H. Harrett, president of the Imperial Refining company, was in Tulsa yesterday for the meeting of the refinery association and received a warm welcome from his numerous friends here. He is greatly pleased in Tulsa.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

W. H. Harrett, president of the Imperial Refining company, was in Tulsa yesterday for the meeting of the refinery association and received a warm welcome from his numerous friends here. He is greatly pleased in Tulsa.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee's statement, which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

R. L. West, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, who was here yesterday as a member of the advisory committee, left on a train for his home in New York.

George Moore, sales manager for the rebuffed Petroleum company, who is a member of the advisory committee of the war service board, was down from Chicago to attend the meeting yesterday and enjoyed the visit with his numerous friends as well as taking a leading part in the formulation of the committee